About The Mansion

The Captain Lord Mansion is an intimate and elegant Inn situated at the head of a sloping village green, overlooking the Kennebunk River. The Inn is located in a residential area filled with 17th and 18th century Colonial and Federal period homes that have been meticulously preserved. The Captain Lord Mansion has a handsome large carriage house on its property that has served as a sail loft and an artist studio at various times in its past.

Viewed across the long manicured lawn, the historic Captain Lord Mansion sits peacefully shaded by large Maple trees. As perennial gardens lead you to the entrance, the door seems to swing open and welcome you home for the night. Once inside the lobby, the warmth of hardwood floors, period furniture and beautiful decorations will dazzle you.

From the main lobby guests can view the formal gathering room incorporating a large "Centennial Chippendale" dining room table and chairs originally belonging to the Lord family and centering on a large open fireplace. Adjacent to the original 1812-cooking fireplace are a pair of high-back wing chairs and a camelback sofa complete with down cushions welcoming guests. A toasty fire is kept tended daily for 10 months of the year.

And if you can imagine, this is only the beginning! Each guestroom's unique appointments have been carefully chosen to make each one an adventure for all your senses to explore and savor. All this is followed up by scrumptious breakfasts, new friends, and relaxing times in the historical setting of Kennebunkport.

Nurtured by your hosts Rick and Bev and their staff, The Captain Lord Mansion's warmth and happiness emerges from every room where charm and beauty is a way of life and time has no meaning.
