The Memory Garden – A Tribute to Loyal Inn Guests

The Captain Lord Mansion "Memory Garden" is a tribute to our frequent visitor guests who help make The Mansion the special place that it is. On a guest's tenth visit to the Inn, they receive a personalized engraved stone in the walkway located on the Mansion's beautifully manicured grounds. The centerpiece to this unique memorial garden is the "Fountain of Love."

The serene and sunny flower garden graces the spacious side lawn of the Mansion. It is comprised of 500 million-year-old Appalachian bluestones that pave the two angular paths and one circular path, surrounding a round fountain with a weathered copper statue of a couple cuddling in the "rain" under an umbrella.

The Innkeepers, Bev Davis and Rick Litchfield, designed this landmark to honor their most dedicated guests. On their tenth visit to the Mansion, guests immediately wander these paths to discover their personal stone engraved with their names. There are two granite benches on which guests may sit to soak in the peaceful essence of the garden and the beauty of the bordering flowers.

What a unique and timeless way of recognizing guest loyalty in these modern times.
